'CRYSTAL CLEAR' LAKE ENJOYED

The pollution — if any — in Okanagan Lake doesn't seem to bother these swimmers and others like them who have been flocking to the beaches since the hot weather started more than a week ago. This scene, at Hot Sands, City Park, Kelowna, was typical of many up and down the lake, over the weekend. The beach rush was probably boosted by Mayor Doug Stuart of Penicton claiming Saturday that the lake was "crystal clear."

Quebec Premier 'Improving' He'll Leave Hospital Soon

QUEBEC (CP) — Premier Johnson, who suffered a mild heart attack last Wednesday, hopes to leave hospital in a few days and convalesce somewhere in the province.

The 53-year-old leader of the Union Nationale government joked Sunday with two CBC reporters for 15 minutes, until a nurse asked him to end the interview.

Dr. Yves Morin, director of the Quebec Cardiology Institute, where Mr. Johnson is being treated, said the premier's condition "couldn't be more favorable."

He said the premier's improvement since his admittance last Wednesday had been remarkable and no heart damage had been revealed by electrocardiogram test.

The premier told the reporters he would be delegating more work to his colleagues than he had done previously when he returns to the legislature in October.

Mr. Johnson said he was "a great deal surprised" that Prime Minister Trudeau had named Montrealer Eric Kienans, a former Liberal cabinet minister, to the new federal cabinet.

But the new cabinet line-up showed the prime minister was a "traditionalist."

LBJ Sees No Rainbow Yet In Central American Lands

SAN SALVADOR (AP) — President Johnson set out from the capital of El Salvador today for quick visits to four other Central American countries and declared that he seeks "a road of new hope for this hemisphere."

Johnson, in El Salvador since Saturday for Central American summit talks, was bound for Nicaragua, Costa Rica, Honduras and Guatemala before settling down tonight at his Texas ranch.

In each country, he was dropping off one of the presidents who met with him during the weekend.

Johnson, in remarks prepared for departure ceremonies at San Salvador, spoke of "the new strength and promise that we have here added to our partnership."

He cautioned: "The road that brought us here has no rainbow at its end—not yet."

Never before has any U.S. president visited all five Central American republics, and Johnson's reception in El Salvador seemed to indicate his effort was appreciated.

MOST WERE FRIENDLY

Despite some fresh eggs, paint bombs and raw potatoes thrown at him by student demonstrators against the Vietnam war shortly after his arrival Saturday, the crowds were big and friendly.

As he drove through San Salvador and the surrounding countryside Sunday, he climbed onto the running board of his long bubbletop limousine at least five times to greet close-packed street crowds, shake hands and deliver brief speeches over the car's built-in loudspeakers.

Trudeau And His Men Plan For Parliamentary Session

OTTAWA (CP) — The new Trudeau cabinet sits down today to begin the first of two periods of intensive preparation leading to the fall session of Parliament.

The 29-member administration is entering what amounts to 60 days of planning—in contrast to the much-criticized 60 days of decision at the start of the Pearson government in 1963.

Announced Friday night and sworn in Saturday, the cabinet or its committees will meet almost continuously this week and next to decide on over-all policy aims.

Then Prime Minister Trudeau has scheduled a three-week rest break, with only a "corporate guard" supervising national affairs.

The second intensive work period will begin about Aug. 14 and continue for a month until the opening of Parliament, expected Sept. 12.

The vacation break will give civil servants a chance to work on details of the full legislative program. And it will allow the cabinet to work on the final plans for the throne speech opening the 28th Parliament.

Some previews of the fall schedule emerged Saturday as the new ministers, in dark suits or formal clothes, were sworn in by Governor-General Michener at Rideau Hall.

Mr. Trudeau said changes in parliamentary rules and government reorganization are among the priorities.

Finance Minister Benson said he expects to bring down a budget at some time in the fall.

Justice Minister John Turner said an official languages bill and the left-over legislation designed to reduce drug prices also are expected to be before the Commons early in the session.

He said he did not expect action until October or November on Criminal Code amendments introduced last year by Mr. Trudeau when he was justice minister.

Mr. Turner said both he and the prime minister are committed to the bill, covering new laws on abortion, homosexuality, and sexual orientation.

He said he was "not at all sure" that the bill will pass, but he said he was "not at all sure" that the bill will pass.

HANDY DOCTOR SAVES TWINS

SOUTHAMPTON, England (CP)—A ship's doctor Saturday told how a home-made incubator saved the lives of twins born prematurely at sea.

An ambulance waited on the dock as the Italian liner Aurelia docked after a voyage from New York. Later a spokesman at Southampton general hospital said the mother, German-born Hadwig Hunsicker, and the twins were in satisfactory condition.

Six Die Accidentally On Weekend In B.C.

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

At least six persons died accidentally in British Columbia during the weekend, a Canadian Press survey from 6 p.m. Friday to midnight Sunday shows. Three died in drownings, two in traffic and one by fire.

Lawrence Joseph Corcoran, 24, of Vancouver drowned Saturday after a canoe overturned in English Bay. A companion was rescued.

Gordon Yarmuch, 23, of Brudenheim, Alta., drowned Saturday while swimming in Shuswap Lake, 300 miles northeast of Vancouver. His body was found in 55 feet of water.

Divers Saturday recovered the body of Eric Morgenson, 45, of Chilliwack. Who drowned Friday in Cultus Lake, 50 miles east of Vancouver.

Gerald Golding, 33, of Tacoma Wash., died Sunday in a one-car accident in West Vancouver. He and a companion were in the car when it flipped over.

Troy Cunningham, 33, of Kaslo, died Sunday in a single-car accident on a Kootenay highway. Police say he died when his car left the road at a high rate of speed and plunged down an embankment.

Mrs. Minnie Peters, 69, died Saturday when fire destroyed a home on an Indian reserve near Harrison Mills in the Fraser Valley. Three children escaped injury in the fire.

NATIONAL TOLL

At least 93 persons were reported killed in weekend accidents across Canada, 58 on the roads.

A survey by The Canadian Press from 6 p.m. Friday to midnight Sunday, local times, also showed 2 drownings, eight persons killed in fires, one man accidentally shot while other accidents claimed six lives.

They then draped a plastic sheet around the berth and pumped in oxygen from cylinders borrowed from the ship's engine room.

Smallwood Calls Convention To Decide On His Successor

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP) — Premier Joseph Smallwood of Newfoundland said today he plans to call a provincial leadership convention before the end of next year to elect his successor as leader of the Newfoundland Liberal party.

Mr. Smallwood said at a news conference he is "determined to leave our party in a strong, healthy, confident condition as I go out."

He announced a detailed program of action to create a powerful, revitalized liberal party organization.

"The party should be powerfully organized throughout the province with representation in every city, town, settlement and hamlet."

His doctors indicated they no longer plan a third heart for him.

Dr. Blalberg Fights Back

CAPE TOWN (CP) — Dr. Philip Blalberg, who has survived more than six months with another man's heart, today appeared back on the road to recovery after his second serious setback in recent weeks.

Blalberg, 59, a retired Cape Town dentist, received intensive treatment with anti-lymphocyte serum Sunday to counter tissue rejection symptoms and an accompanying lung ailment, which had led surgeons to consider a second heart transplant.

He said he was "not at all sure" that the bill will pass, but he said he was "not at all sure" that the bill will pass.

Fire Kills 7 Of One Family

CARBONAR, Nfld. (CP) — Investigation has started into a fire early today at this Conception Bay community which caused the death of Joseph Power, 59, and six of his eight children.

Blalberg, 59, a retired Cape Town dentist, received intensive treatment with anti-lymphocyte serum Sunday to counter tissue rejection symptoms and an accompanying lung ailment, which had led surgeons to consider a second heart transplant.

Not Plain Sailing For A Boatbuilder

HOLLYWOOD, Calif. (AP) — Albert Foster has a classic problem. After working nearly two years in his yard building a 20-foot cabin cruiser, Foster discovered the boat wouldn't fit out of the driveway. "It looks like about the only way we can get it out is to have a large crane lift it over the house," he said.

Coast IWA Talks Nearly Succeed —Then Hit Snag

VANCOUVER (CP) — Contract talks in the British Columbia coast forest industry dispute broke down during the weekend as chances of a settlement for 26,000 workers appeared within reach.

The deadlock came Sunday afternoon when company negotiators—representing 114 operators—failed to return to bargaining sessions for further discussions on vacations.

Agreement on wages had been reached—a 36-cent an hour increase over two years. It would raise the base rate from $2.76 hourly to $2.94 now and to $3.12 an hour next year.

International Woodworkers of America spokesmen Sunday night issued an appeal to workers to stay on the job today while attempts are made to break the deadlock.

The IWA negotiating team said it will be at the table at 10 a.m. today and expects company negotiators to also be present.

A statement by Forest Industrial Relations Sunday night said the industry has made its final offer. It said negotiations are at an end if the IWA rejects the settlement proposals. The IWA loggers' local has set Wednesday for a strike deadline.

"The union has publicly stated that the industry's wage offer is acceptable, but union negotiators refuse to accept the vacations proposal," said John Billings, president of Forest Industrial Relations, which bargains for the companies.

The vacation package provides five weeks vacation after 25 years, four weeks vacation after 15 years, three weeks after four years, and two weeks vacation after one year.

The IWA wants four weeks holiday after 12 years and five weeks after 20.

Sydney Gunman Ignores Pleas And Stays Indoors With Bride

SYDNEY, Australia (CP) — A Presbyterian minister who married besieged gunman Wallace Mellish to his hostage teen-age bride made a new appeal today for him to surrender.

They reported she was seen walking unguarded on the house's verandah four times and that she also has shouted insults at the police surrounding the house.

Police on the instructions of Police Commissioner Norman Allan, now have waited patiently seven days for Mellish to surrender.

Allan arranged a wedding Wednesday for the couple, with the bridegroom holding the shotgun.

The executive of the New South Wales Police Association censured Allan Monday for his handling of the siege.

General secretary F. C. Laut said: "It is pretty obvious that we are not satisfied."

The executive sent its censure motion to state Premier R. Askin.

The executive said Allan's action in giving Mellish a high-powered rifle endangered the lives of the policemen surrounding the cottage.

Mellish has threatened to kill his wife and baby rather than surrender and face a car theft charge.

Police said Paton spoke only to Mellish's 19-year-old bride, the former Beryl Muddell. Mellish has said he will trust only Paton.

Year's Rain Hits Texas In A Weekend

EL PASO, Tex. (AP) — Torrential weekend downpours of up to 6.25 inches—almost as much as the average annual rainfall—claimed five lives and caused widespread flooding in El Paso and Juarez just across the Rio Grande in Mexico.

An estimated 40 homes were swept away by floodwaters in Juarez and 125 persons were evacuated. The rainstorms, termed the worst since 1913, caused an estimated $4,000,000 in damage in Juarez.

Flood waters temporarily halted the international street car line which runs between El Paso and Juarez. Several cars streets and the car barns were underwater.

El Paso city engineer Charles Davis said it will be several days before an assessment can be made of flood damages in the city.

FIVE PEOPLE DIE

Rafael Reyes, 41, died when his car skidded on a wet El Paso street and overturned. Four others died in Juarez during the downpours—one youth was killed by a bolt of lightning and three other persons were drowned.

Assistant Police Chief Ted Vogel said 45 persons were evacuated from their homes in El Paso by police Saturday.

Dozens of homes were damaged as flood waters three feet deep swept low sections of El Paso and rocks and silt rolled down from Mount Franklin.

On his return from a Basel, Switzerland, meeting of central bankers representing 14 nations O'Brien told reporters:

"We have only got to turn the corner and show evidence that we are getting over the problem and I am sure our financial difficulties will be resolved."

He said he detected no fear of a second devaluation of the pound. Britain last fall reduced the value of sterling by nearly 15 per cent.

Advance signs of the Basel agreement earlier in the day had sent Britain's currency climbing more than half a cent to $2.3880 U.S. on the foreign exchange market.

O'Brien described the new credit arrangement as something quite different from the emergency standby props that have been made available during the last three or four years.

"This is a medium-term arrangement in the region of about 10 years," he said.

FRANCE STAYS OUT

France, preoccupied with its own money troubles and with the franc still under some pressure, expressed sympathy for the deal but stayed out of it.

Before O'Brien's return, the Bank of England announced that 12 countries, including Canada, had agreed to the plan to protect Britain from massive speculation against the pound.

But the Bank of England statement gave no indication of the proposed new standby credit arranged at Basel.

Russia Lofts New Satellite

MOSCOW (AP) — Russia has launched the ninth communications satellite in its Molniya series, Tass news agency announced Monday. The satellite was sent up Friday to increase facilities for TV, radio and telephone communications with the far northern and far eastern parts of the Soviet Union, the announcement said.

On his return from a Basel, Switzerland, meeting of central bankers representing 14 nations O'Brien told reporters:

Nigerian Chief Scores British Mercy Flights

Gen. Yakubu Gowon, Nigerian head of state, scored the British relief agency Oxfam as hostile and called on his troops Sunday to show mercy and magnanimity to Biafran rebels. The federal radio quoted Gowon's separate statements. "We must not waste time with Oxfam any longer," Gowon was quoted as saying during a stopover at Kaduna Saturday while on a brief trip to Chad. "Let them fly their planes to any part of the east-central state and the consequences." The Nigerian federal regime has said it will shoot down any planes making any unauthorized flights over the country, even those taking relief supplies to breakaway Biafra, Nigeria's Eastern Region, where thousands are reported dying of starvation.

Richard Hart, 26, of Heffley Creek, drowned Saturday while taking part in a canoe race on the Bow River between Calgary and Banff, Alta. The canoe he and Roy Jackson of Kamloops were riding in tipped over near Morley, Alta., 35 miles west of Calgary. Jackson was able to swim to shore.

A ruling by the CBC that prevents a winning British Columbia quiz team from representing Canada at an international competition was termed "ridiculous" Sunday by Premier W. A. C. Bennett. A team from the Oak Bay Senior Secondary School in Victoria won the national competition of the Reach for the Top CBC Television program in Vancouver Saturday, but the CBC said Oak Bay won't represent Canada at the international competition in England in October because of high travel costs. Premier Bennett said: "In the interests of national unity and fair play, the B.C. government will pay the difference between the fares from the east and the fares from Victoria."

Richard M. Nixon is quoted as calling for a tougher Cuban policy and saying "new diplomatic moves must be made with our European friends and our Canadian friends" who trade with the Fidel Castro government. A copyrighted story in the Miami Herald says Nixon urged in an interview a tighter economic quarantine on Cuba. He is quoted as adding that such a quarantine is "the only leverage we currently have on Castro."

CORE Hit By Dispute

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Congress of Racial Equality recessed its national convention Sunday after some delegates walked out in a dispute over the future course of the organization.

Charging that CORE was "a simple tool to blind black people," Robert (Sonny) Carson lead his Brooklyn chapter out of the convention and threatened to form a new civil rights group on his own.

"It is clear to a lot of us out here that this organization and a few people who have a quest for power are only using this tool as a vehicle for personal fame," Carson said.

CORE delegates also failed to act on a new constitution. CORE officials said the convention would be reconvened in another city next month for the purpose of considering and ratifying the new constitution. The city was not selected.

The squabble also blocked the selection of a new CORE director to replace Floyd McKissick, who wants a leave of absence for a bad back.

Associate National Director Roy Innis had hoped to take over McKissick's $16,500-a-year post at the windup of the five-day, 26th annual convention.

Innis and other CORE leaders favor the building up of Negro communities and using foundation grants to do it. The Carson faction disagrees.

McKissick is reported to be "reconsidering" stepping down until the dispute is settled.

Carson views black nationalism as total non-co-operation with the "establishment"—including its money. He and other CORE chapters are reported to be angered at what they call "strongarm tactics" by Innis.

Mace Almost Causes Riot As Views About It Vary

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Mace, a type of stunning gas and a relative newcomer to the arsenal of police weapons, has not been used much in Canada so far. But already police everywhere are debating its merits and one attorney-general has warned publicly of its possible danger.

Police used the tear gas-type chemical this week to break up a street disturbances in London, Ont., and Attorney-General Arthur Wishart said in the Ontario legislature that any force in the province using Mace could be liable to legal action if permanent injury was caused.

A Cross-Canada Survey by The Canadian Press Friday shows that some police chiefs, such as Gordon Preston in Windsor, Ont., consider Mace a "humane and effective" alternative to police clubs and guns.

But the Windsor force, like the RCMP and forces including those in Winnipeg, Kingston and Galt, Ont., want further tests to determine the exact effects of Mace. The federal health department is studying the chemical for the RCMP.

Police in the United States, where it was developed and manufactured, have found Mace effective in handling riots and unruly demonstrations. But critics say it can cause permanent injury in some cases.

Sprayed from an aerosol can, it can render some persons unconscious. A noticeable effect is a burning sensation in the eyes.

Although expensive, Mace has a life expectancy of four to five years. While tear gas has to be shot from its bottle all at once, Mace can be sprayed in small quantities.

Police forces in Canada's two largest cities, Montreal and Toronto, do not have Mace. Forces in both cities have organized, or are organizing, special police units to handle riots or violent demonstrations.

Forces with Mace, or an equivalent in stock or on order include, besides London and Windsor: Vancouver, Quebec

City, Calgary, Saint John, N.B., Sudbury and Moose Jaw, Sask. Several other Ontario forces had Mace but withdrew it after a warning in an American magazine two months ago.

Vancouver's deputy police chief, John Fisk, said Friday a liquid tear gas similar to Mace has been ordered and will be used primarily for handling disturbed persons, but not for riots or crowd control.

The chemical has been used in at least five Ontario communities to handle crowds and prisoners and to subdue berserk men. In Waterloo, Ont., police used Mace on a man who wouldn't stop beating his wife. Police used the spray about five times before shelving it pending further tests.

LEARN TO SWIM ON GRASS FIRST

Hey, look. There's nothing to learning how to float or do the Australian crawl on the City Park grass. Instructor Boots Elsdon hopes her pupil, Faye Berteig, 5, of 1296 Kelglen Cres. can perfect the moves on land, then move into Okanagan Lake as another successful swimmer to move through the Parks and Recreation Commission's annual instruction program. The program has 1,523 participants ranging from five-year-olds, to adults. — (Courier Photo)

Rutland C of C Backs Switch For Mail Routes

RUTLAND — Residents of Rutland and Ellison districts who received their mail through RR 2 Kelowna and RR 5 Kelowna have been circulating this past week by the postal authorities regarding a proposed change by which the Rutland post office will be the point of departure, and return, of these two routes.

Most of the roads served are in the Rutland District, though a considerable number of RR 2 patrons are in Ellison. The move came as a result of representations made by the Rutland Chamber of Commerce. Chairman of the chamber Alan Paterson, in order to answer a number of points that have been raised and clarify the situation, has issued the following statement:

"There seems to be some confusion as to what the recently circulated letter from the district director of postal services to rural routes 2 and 5 really means. It simply is that Rural Routes 2 and 5 are being asked if they would like to change over from the Kelowna to the Rutland post office. The Rutland Chamber of Commerce has suggested the move in order to facilitate a more rapid mail delivery service in this area.

"It is reasonable for persons writing to this area to suppose that the Rutland Post Office is servicing the surrounding area. This is not presently the case and it means mis-directed mail, delayed mail, and sometimes fayed tempers when expected letters are misdirected on account of this.

"The Rutland Chamber has been assured that there would be no delay whatever in mail to RR 2 and 5 if the address was RR 2 or RR 5 Rutland.

It would also help to maintain the identity of the entire area and the Rutland Chamber of Commerce hopes that rural mail patrons will give this move their favorable consideration.

"It would be more convenient for most people to pick up parcels and send registered mail from the Rutland Post Office, especially during the Christmas season, when most rural route patrons do their mailing at the Rutland Post Office," he said.

Would-Be Swimmers Register For Lessons In Rutland

RUTLAND — More than 150 children registered for swimming lessons at the Rutland Pool when it opened last week. The lifeguard at the pool this season is Paul Druitt, and Gerald Ritchey is his assistant. There will also be an attendant in the first aid room to take care of minor mishaps. Volunteers are being enrolled from mothers, big sisters and brothers, to help keep an eye on the proceedings, from 2 to 5 and 7 to 9 p.m. daily, to enable the lifeguard to concentrate on watching those in the pool, and giving swimming instruction.

This will be the last year the present pool will be in operation, as provincial regulations will require in future that all public swimming pools have underwater lighting. With the building of the new Centennial Community Centre the old pavilion had to be torn down, and at present dressing room facilities are unavailable.

The old swimming pool and pavilion have been in use since 1939 and the recent meeting of the Rutland Park and Recreation Commission was faced with the alternatives of a temporary arrangement for this year or a major reconstruction job.

It is likely that a new swimming pool and pavilion will be "Project '69" for the Rutland community.

The hall committee submitted their report, which showed that approximately $100 was realized from the serving of meals to election workers on polling day recently.

12-Month Term For $108 Theft

Stan Roseborough of Kelowna was sentenced in magistrate's court today to 12 months in prison, with a recommendation the time be spent at the Haney institute.

Roseborough surrendered to police after taking $108 from his employer, Glenwood 66 service station in Kelowna, May 23. He was sent to Oakalla for a 30-day psychiatric examination and was remanded to today for sentencing.

Magistrate D. M. White said Roseborough needed counselling not jailing, but to free him would mean his going on welfare and getting into trouble again. At Haney he could further his training, be assured of three meals a day and obtain counselling which might help him solve his problems.

Ken Nuysen, Winfield, was sentenced to one day in jail on an assault charge. He had previously pleaded guilty and was remanded to today for sentencing. He was free to leave after the court session. The charge arose from an incident at a dance in Winfield.

Richard Spencer, Kelowna, was remanded without plea to July 15 on two charges, failing to remain at the scene of an accident and impaired driving. He is currently out on bail.

Don Miller, Coquitlam, was charged with committing perjury March 12, 1963 at a trial in Kelowna. He elected trial by a judge and jury and was remanded to July 15 for setting of a preliminary hearing date.

Trevor McIvor, Errington, was remanded in custody to July 12, pending a report from the probation officer. McIvor was charged with attempting to steal gasoline Sunday at 2:15 a.m. from a vehicle on Pheasant Street. He pleaded guilty.

Murray Lowenburg, Kelowna, pleaded not guilty to a charge of causing a disturbance in the City Park July 5, and was remanded to July 15 for trial with bail to continue.

Small Fire Near Westbank Extinguished Last Week

A marked change occurred in the B.C. forest fire situation last week.

Ninety-six new fires were reported during the week but the pace for the year, as of Friday, continues to lag far behind last year's for the corresponding period. To date there have been 570 fires in the province with firefighting costs reaching $102,600 compared with last year's 978 fires and costs of $620,600.

One fire was reported last week in the Kelowna Ranger District says Forest Ranger H. C. Hewlett. This was a small fire about two miles east of Westbank, now extinguished. At present, there are no fires burning in the area and the total now stands at nine. The return of hot, dry weather has increased the fire hazard to high. Ranger Hewlett urges the public to take every precaution with cigarettes and matches when travelling in or near the woods.

TOTAL UP

The Kamloops forest district, of which Kelowna Ranger District is a part, last week reported 59 fires. This raises the year's total to 262 and costs to $48,500. Last year at the same time, 407 fires at a cost of $123,500 had been reported. The hazard is serious and is rated high and increasing.

Most of the 96 fires reported in the Kamloops forest district last week occurred as the result of a dry thunderstorm which moved from Princeton north to the Horsefly area and down the Bowron River to the Rocky Mountain Trench. As a result of the lightning activity, about 70 fires were reported with the major concentration being in the Shuswap and Horsefly areas. Seven air tankers are working on this concentration and five patrol aircraft are continuing to scout the

Of the 134 fires reported burning last week, 32 were extinguished leaving 102 still burning. At present firefighting conditions are well in hand provided winds do not play havoc with the fighting activities. Estimated cost last week was $6,300.

The Vancouver forest district reports 55 fires for the year at a cost of only $1,600; the Prince Rupert district has had 62 fires costing $4,000; the Prince George district 96 fires at a cost of $45,200 and the Nelson forest district 95 fires at a cost of $3,300.

Hazards are expected to move into the high range within the week throughout the province as warming and drying conditions continue to develop. The Kamloops district is the most serious in the province but the Prince George and Prince Rupert districts now have a moderate to high reading. The general public now is urged to exercise extreme caution on their travels.

B.C. Realtors More Advanced In Some Aspects Than U.S.

British Columbia is on a par with California and more advanced in education and licensing of realtors than most of the U.S., says Kelowna realtor Al Salloum.

He has just returned from a meeting of the National Association of Real Estate License and Law Officials (Narello) in West Yellowstone, Montana. He is the Okanagan Mainline Real Estate Board member on the B.C. Real Estate Council and represents the board and the County of Yale at such meetings.

Qualifying for licence in B.C. is much tougher than most states, he found. Only in one respect is California different. It requires finger printing of all licencees. "That's good," he says and feels it will probably come here eventually.

Also coming, he feels, in about five years, is the computerizing of all listings. At the meeting, Tom Ervin, vice-president from Detroit, Mich., described how the computer age has come to real estate. He demonstrated how it worked by phoning the computer in Detroit and delegates could hear the operation on a loud speaker.

The computer is "tremendous for listings and appraising," says Salloum.

Areas represented at the meeting in addition to B.C., were Alberta, Alaska, Arizona, California, Hawaii, Idaho, Montana, Nevada, Oregon, Utah and Washington.

A great deal of time was spent discussing reciprocity. "They were quite concerned about this between states. We don't have that problem here."

This is the third year that Mr. Salloum has represented the Okanagan Mainline Real Estate Board on the Council and his term of office goes to June, 1969.

Federal Minister Wires Okanagan Water Committee

Jean Luc Pepin, minister of energy, mines and water resources, Ottawa, has sent the following telegram to the Okanagan Water Resources Committee:

"I acknowledge and appreciate the interest shown by all concerned for early implementation of the Canada Water Act. We are doing our best in that regard."

The Okanagan Water Resources Committee is acting temporarily until the Okanagan Basin Water Board can be brought to life. The South Okanagan Regional District, and the Central Okanagan Regional District, have signified their desire to formulate the official government water board. When completed it will speak officially for the people of the whole region to both Victoria and Ottawa.

Only the North Okanagan Regional District is declining to take part in the proposed Okanagan Basin Water Board.

Three Calls But No Fires

The Kelowna Fire Brigade was called three times Saturday. At 12:45 p.m. firemen were called when gasoline flames were reported in a lane behind the Okanagan Telephone office building. The fire, from spilled gasoline, was out on arrival.

At 12:50 p.m. firemen were asked to make a check for the presence of carbon monoxide at the Metropolitan Stores, Shops Capri. Tests were negative.

An outside sprinkler system was triggered at 10:05 p.m. at Kelly Douglas warehouse on Smith Avenue. There was no fire.

ENDS 31-YEAR CAREER

Veteran Engineer Recalls Many Lake Trips

The balding, gray-haired man leaned back slowly in the light green swivel chair and methodically, almost mechanically, puffed a cigarette.

For Carl Glazle, 1448 Richter St., retired veteran of the Canadian National marine service it had been a puff worth waiting for.

Most young men anticipate that last day of work, when they walk into the office and "shut her down," as it were, for the final day. For Carl Glazle, turning his back on a 31 year career with the Canadian National and ending those final good-byes, must have been much more difficult, although there had to be a sense of something accomplished.

Born in Germany in 1903, Glazle learned the engineering trade well to serve him so well in later years. In 1930 he came to Canada and shortly after, was employed in Aklavik as an engineer for the Hudson's Bay Co.

A special assignment in the Prince Rupert area of two months led to a permanent position with the CNR and so the story of tugboat Carl had its beginning.

Glazle remained in that coastal centre through the Second World War. As a head machinist and tool-maker he still found time to teach night classes in math and blueprint reading.

On July 2, 1915, appointed to a new position as second engineer minding a tug on Lake Okanagan, Glazle made his first trip moving a barge loaded with lumber and supplies to the Kelowna-Penticton route.

CARL GLAZLE... last trip done

No. 6 was commissioned he took over.

As an old-timer in this area, Glazle has seen many changes. "Most changes have been for the better—the building of the bridge, the transforming of the bushland into orchards," he said. He has seen seven feet of ice on the lake and the frantic efforts of man and machine to open a channel for the old Kelowna ferries.

On pollution, he said, "well I wouldn't say the lake is polluted, although there could be some pollution along the shore from septic tanks, dog waste and the like."

In Glazle's opinion the Ogoogo is more fantasy than fact. He attributes the "mythical" creature to a combination of lake swells, created by water being pushed back and forth at night, which works wonders with people's eyes.

"It's just a tourist gimmick," he said.

Glazle recalls many pleasant and some not so pleasant experiences encountered through his job. He remembers fishing two drowning doctors out of the water after their boat overturned, and the many Prairie people who were always anxious to come aboard the tug and have a look around.

But most of all he recalls the long hours and the uncertainty of it all—awaiting a train that didn't come and so you waited and waited, or being snowed out for hours on end.

Yet Glazle believes it was all worthwhile. Now he has time to enjoy the things he sacrificed for a job and which make a job worth leaving. As president of the Shriners he will be busy designing the children's hospital with a new and Arabesque for a new float in the Regatta parade.

CUPE Talks Underway Today

A conciliation board will sit today in the court house in the provincial government building, to hear representatives from the Canadian Union of Public Employees and 12 Okanagan municipalities.

The union is currently attempting to negotiate a master contract.

Municipalities involved are Kelowna, Vernon, Penticton, Revelstoke, Coldstream, Oliver, Osoyoos, Merritt, Lillooet, Kamloops, District and Village of Salmon Arm.

Anyone who can act as an interpreter from Spanish to English, for a group study plan sponsored by Rotary District 506, is asked to contact Harold Henderson of Kelowna.

Kelowna artist Z. D. Kunjundic will be guest speaker Tuesday at the regular weekly meeting of the Kelowna Rotary Club.

Water skiers and their drivers are as safety-conscious as any other category of sportsman, but there are the exceptions. And these exceptions have been scaring swimmers off beaches in the Kelowna and Casa Loma residential areas. The skiers are the "show-offs" who prefer to execute their stunts near spectators, and thereby run the risk of executing a swimmer or two. The close-to-shore water-skiers are reminded the laws stipulate boats must be driven in a safe manner—and that sking close to swimmers and close to the shore, is not safe.

SCHOOL WALK COLLECTED $1,200

A marathon walk sponsored by the Dr. Knox Secondary School Red Cross netted $1,200 toward furnishing a ward in the new wing of the Kelowna General Hospital, Susan Allan, president of the local Red Cross presents the money to Victor Haddad, chairman of the hospital board of trustees. More money pledged for the walk is still to be collected.

Cape Breton Makes Gain While Kelowna Loses

This weekend Kelowna, indeed the entire Valley, will lose a man who has made more impression on the area in five years, than most people accomplish in a lifetime.

With the departure of Jim Donald to his new job in Sydney, the chamber of commerce loses a secretary-manager, the city and chamber an industrial commissioner and Kelowna and the whole Okanagan, the biggest salesman the area ever had.

Since Kelowna became part of a designated area, Jim began travelling across the country selling the Okanagan as a place where new industries should be established. He has become a familiar face to many government officials and to top executives in banks and private firms. It is only natural that someone, somewhere, sometime would come up with an offer that would be too attractive to be turned down.

The tribute paid to Mr. Donald Thursday night at a reception at the Capri was evidence of the gratitude of the local people. He was showered with gifts from the city, the chamber, the retail merchants and the regatta association and each gift bore the message "to Jim in appreciation."

The living evidence of his devotion to duty will remain behind him for years to come. Among this evidence is the new firms he helped establish here.

An official of Brown Brothers book-binding firm, when asked why Kelowna had been chosen as the site for a new firm replied: "The reason is largely the good selling job done by Jim Donald." This sentiment was echoed by officials of White Trucks Manufacturing, and many others.

For three years he acted as secretary of the Kelowna International Regatta Association, doing willingly and cheerfully the 101 jobs that go to make each year's show such a success.

The city was prodded, retail merchants were pestered and chamber presidents were pushed, all with the idea of seeing the best was done for Kelowna.

His secret lay in putting his whole heart into every job he undertook and his satisfaction was in seeing a job well done.

In his work with the federal government, in seeking to improve economic conditions in Cape Breton, this newspaper, with his many friends in Kelowna and the Valley, wishes him every success.

Drivers Face Crack-Down

During the past year the courts in B.C. have taken a dim view of persons deemed to be a public menace when in control of a car. Recently the B.C. license of a Metochin man has been cancelled for life; he has been ordered not to drive anywhere in Canada for three years and has been sentenced to three months in jail for dangerous driving and driving while his license was suspended.

The above case is only one of half a dozen of life-time suspensions imposed in the province in an effort to rule these drivers off the road.

Our magistrates are cracking down and they are getting the support of the community. The penalty hurts but it is the hope of authorities that it will act as a deterrent for those who ignore safe and courteous driving practices to the danger of others.

Control Exhaust Fumes

(Victoria Times)

Mr. Wilbur Cohen, the United States secretary of health, education and welfare, greets government legislation to raise air pollution standards for 1970 model cars—a measure calculated to reduce tailpipe emissions by 30 per cent—as another step in the efforts of the United States toward

How far that hope can be justified is questionable. Scarcely a day passes without someone being convicted in local court for driving under suspension. Moreover British Columbia authorities accept as applicable the findings of a California research team that about half those whose driving licence suspensions run to more than a year ignore the suspension.

The sanction, nevertheless, is perhaps the heaviest that can be passed on a person considered unfit to drive on the highway. Short of lengthy imprisonment, is there any more effective way of keeping a dangerous driver from operating a car? And if reasons are needed for a severe penalty, consider this gruesome statistic: last year in this province, 559 persons lost their lives in motor vehicle accidents. That calls for firm deterrence.

controlling sources of air pollution. The secretary may hear a soulful "amen" from Canada—not because Canada is particularly active in controlling air pollution, but because American models doubtless will influence Canadian cars on the road in 1970, and exert automatic pressures on them to conform to the new standards.

Bygone Days

10 YEARS AGO

Seven young tap dancers, the pupils of Mrs. Donald Sass, caught the eye of Roy Gordon, Hollywood scout, and as a result they will appear at the Pacific National Exhibition talent show in August. They danced an original routine to the tune of the Chattanooga Choo Choo.

20 YEARS AGO

L. J. Kelly was installed as head of the Kelowna Rotary Club for the 1948-49 year by Herb Clark of Trail, retiring governor of Rotary District No. 103, at an installation dinner. Retiring president J. K. Campbell reviewed the work of the past year, and referred to the growing popularity of Rotary Beach on the West Side of the lake.

30 YEARS AGO

The necessary bylaw to empower the formation of schoolboy traffic patrols in the city passed the necessary readings at Monday night's meeting of the city council. The bylaw empowers the boys to regulate the movement of cars on the streets and lanes and other designated places adjacent to the schools, and to stop vehicles at crossings.

40 YEARS AGO

The provincial election campaign in South Okanagan gathered momentum, J. W. Jones the Conservative candidate addressed meetings in Westbank, East Kelowna and Peachland. Mayor Sutherland, Independent, held meetings at Ellison, Rutland and Okanagan Mission. On Tuesday Mr. Jones will address a meeting in the Empress Theatre when he will

IT HAPPENED IN CANADA

Washington, Jittery City, Has A Bundle Of Troubles

WASHINGTON (CP)—The city of Washington, seat of the world's most powerful government, has the jitters.

Despite the admonition of Mayor Walter E. Washington that too many people are "yelling from the rooftops and hiding under the bed," creating the impression that things are worse than they really are, these facts remain:

—The city, already protected by the largest, most expensive police force in the United States, on a per-capita basis, has asked for 1,000 more men, a 30-per-cent increase.

—In the traumatic aftermath of the April riots, following the slaying in Tennessee of Negro civil rights leader Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., the crime rate continues to soar, with four merchants and a bus driver killed in a span of several weeks.

—Night bus service was non-existent in the two weeks of a drivers' revolt that followed the stabbing death of their colleague and the robbery of four others—all in one week in May.

—The Canadian embassy felt it necessary to order six girl employees to leave their downtown apartments for the comparative safety of the suburbs, after several were verbally accosted. They moved May 27 after Ottawa approved the minor expenses involved.

TOURISM DOWN

Even Mayor Washington has conceded that preliminary figures indicate hotels and restaurants could lose as much as $40,000,000 in gross revenue as the tourist industry slumps to record lows.

For many in the city where about 62 per cent of the 850,000 population is Negro, the feeling of potential danger was intensified by the Poor People's Campaign, with its accompanying demonstrations, arrests and short-lived outbreaks of violence.

Hope that the atmosphere gradually would return to normal, and the tourist business would recover somewhat, were dashed by a sort of mini-riot June 24, with Mayor Washington, a Negro, immediately imposing a 9 p.m. curfew.

The 51-year-old mayor, conceding "we have tensions, we have problems," continues to urge visitors to come here and reported recently that "we have saved at least 12 large conventions" considering changing plans.

But the outsider's view is bound to be colored by the incredible spectacle of a capital that has virtually admitted it cannot ensure the safety of bus drivers. With drivers refusing to carry the usual $50 to $100 "bank" for change-making, saying it was "holdup bait," the night service finally was resumed with passengers urged to produce exact fares.

When the passengers can't, the drivers issue change in the form of scrip, redeemable for cash at a company office.

No Girls Allowed

CALGARY (CP)—No girls allowed.

That's the rule in Dora Corbett's Grade 1 class.

It is one of three all-boy classes started this year as an experiment in the Calgary public school system.

Teachers and principals at Westgate, Glenbrook and Jennie Elliot schools initiated the classes because they were worried over statistics indicating 75 or 80 per cent of children with reading problems are male.

"I don't think the readers were using were geared for boys," Mrs. Corbett said. "In this class we're trying to read and write about things of particular interest to them."

She puts simple stories on the blackboard—one, five lines long, about a heart transplant; another about a boy who learned judo.

Mrs. Corbett says pupils in the new class seem to express themselves better than they would if they were overshadowed by little girls, who mature more rapidly.

"There's no self-consciousness among themselves," she said. "They (the boys' group) are much more expressive, and don't seem to have the inhibitions they would in a mixed class."

They also have a different approach to learning.

"They don't have a long view. They don't like routine and drill ... they like to see results right now."

And being more active, they are much harder to discipline than girls.

Parents were given a choice of classes for their sons: a standard Grade 1, the boys-only program or a class using the initial Teaching Alphabet for special reading instruction.

The boys' class is scheduled to remain exclusive through Grade 2 and join the girls in Grade 3.

Meantime, the all-male class at Jennie Elliot school is even more exclusive than Mrs. Corbett's. It is taught by Allan Stevenson, the only man teacher of Grade 1 in the Calgary public school system.

Hippies Lonely

SAN FRANCISCO (Reuters)—Present-day hippies in this "land of love" are younger, lonelier and more addicted to drugs than the founders of the cult here three years ago.

Less than half of them have a reliable friend, says a report by two San Francisco psychiatrists employed by the public health service.

The open-hearted ideal of the original hippies has been replaced by disillusion fed by lack of money and accommodation. Yet hippies keep flocking to the Haight-Ashbury district. They appear to be far more desperate, both physically and emotionally, than their predecessors. They also quarrel more among themselves.

"Now there is no effort to convey the image of love," said Al Rinker, a spokesman for the hippies.

"These are just kids who are disillusioned, who have little voice in their future, who feel threatened by the (Vietnam) war and the draft and who have taken to drugs from joyous exploration to a kind of hopeless abuse of methedrine and heroin."

SHORT OF FRIENDS

Rinker, operator of The Switchboard, Haight-Ashbury's run-down rescue service for runaway youths, painted this dismal picture of the love cult after the two psychiatrists published their report.

Dr. Robert McNamara, 35, and Dr. Timothy Keller, 28, found that only 47 per cent of hippies have a friend on whom they could rely.

Fifty per cent move at least once a week, 21 per cent had nowhere to sleep the night before they were interviewed, 53 per cent lived on less than $20 a week and 31 per cent on less than $10.

The original hippies tried to build a new society on a "love philosophy," Dr. McNamara said. But changes in the Haight-Ashbury community taught the new influx of youngsters that "the love ethic was not practical."

Fast-swimming brawls are becoming more frequent in a community noted for its avoidance of violence only two years ago.

BIBLE BRIEF

"And I sought for a man among them, that should make up the hedge, and stand in the gap before me for the land, that I should not destroy it: but I found none."—Ezekiel 22:30.

God's greatest need is not for more high sounding religious talkers but for flagmen, stand-bys between faith and reality, warning of the approaching danger.

OTTAWA REPORT

Long Knives Glint On Parliament Hill

By PATRICK NICHOLSON

The long knives of recrimination are glinting in the sunlight of Parliament Hill, as the veterans of the election campaign return to their offices here.

All political parties are grieving over some losses in that indiscriminate massacre of the mighty; but it is the Tory wounds that were the most disastrous. The Camp-followers were destroyed, and the Fulton flock was felled.

Perhaps this latter was the key to the poor Conservative campaign: David Fulton, defeated himself for the leadership of the party, wrapped his key organizers around his conqueror, Bob Stanfield, like a blanket. And a very wet blanket it proved to be: the Conservative central organization and planning of the campaign was humbling and ineffective.

The key article required by every candidate is a Speakers' Handbook, setting out his party's stand on every issue and outlining its program. A good handbook will also detail the shortcomings of the government, if it is a handbook intended for candidates of an opposition party.

But there was no Conservative Speakers' Handbook.

CENTRAL CONFUSION

Instead, there was a series of position papers, the last few of which were received by most candidates just three days before polling. In contrast, the Liberal central office put out, in good time and efficiently, a comprehensive Red Book.

The demoted leader, John Diefenbaker, had some apt and pithy comments to make on the shortcomings of his party's central office, when he returned to Ottawa. He picked especially for ridicule a questionnaire sent to Conservative candidates, seeking personal information with which to stock its "data bank."

"The purpose was, said the Tory top office, 'to enable our writers to produce fresh, lively stories of an authentic journalistic quality ... to make it possible to crack through into newspapers and broadcasting stations that otherwise would not accept news material from a political party.'"

The sort of fresh, lively information which a glib office staff thought newspapers would accept was to be derived from answers to questions such as this: "Have you ever had heart attack—stroke—cancer—nervous breakdown?"

Or, "What is your main criticism of the Liberal administration of the last five years?"

John Diefenbaker scoffed that the questionnaire asked only two and a half lines for that answer.

NEWS WHERE YOU FIND IT

A "vade mecum" on how to make a Prime Minister would explain that, during an election, the news pages are filled with stories from the campaign trail; not composite think pieces compiled from candidates' medical or personal histories. Even more damning is the time factor: that questionnaire was dated June 4, exactly six weeks after the election was called. Which Tory worker had been sitting on what during those wasted six weeks? Which Tory candidate would have time to complete a four page questionnaire during the last three weeks of a battle which, by then, most of them knew well they were losing?

It is widely agreed that the Conservative party now faces a mammoth rebuilding task. The obvious starting point is with the backroom boys and the policy-planners.

The Conservative party also desperately needs a good French dictionary, to enable it to understand clearly the difference between "Canadian" and "Two founding races."

TODAY in HISTORY

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

July 8, 1968.

The great British parliamentarian and political writer Edmund Burke died 171 years ago today—in 1797—after living through two great events in the century—the American and French revolutions. Burke supported the American rebels, not on theoretical grounds of the Declaration of Independence, but simply because he felt British rule had gone too far. He opposed the French revolution because he thought it was based on false rationalism and saw the violence involved.

1822—British poet Percy Bysshe Shelley died.

1852—A great fire swept through the city of Montreal, killing more than 100 persons and destroying three-quarters of the city.

First World War

Fifty years ago today—in 1918—Italian and French troops near Berat, Albania, opened a strong offensive; Italian forces, supported by British monitors, won the passage of Voljusa, Albania; Czechoslovakian soldiers occupied Irkutsk, in eastern Siberia; an Australian offensive along the Somme River advanced slightly.

Second World War

Twenty-five years ago today—in 1943—Russian sources announced the Red Army dealt the Nazi war machine a great blow and had thwarted a German attack on the central front, killing 30,000 Germans, destroying or damaging 1,539 tanks and shooting down 639 airplanes in the first three days of fighting. Allied marine and ground patrols pushed forward to establish on New Georgia Island to feel out the Japanese defence perimeter around the Munda air base.

CANADA'S STORY

Whoop-Up Bug Juice Proved Hot Mixture

By BOB BOWMAN

In 1865 John A. Macdonald described the Prairies as being "of no present value to Canada." He was forced to change his mind four years later or the U.S.A. would have acquired the Northwest. However, it was his successor as Prime Minister, Alexander Mackenzie, who had to take on the responsibility for policing the territory, and he acted just in time.

On July 8, 1874, the first detachments of North West Mounted Police left Fort Dufferin, Manitoba, and began their march to Calgary and Edmonton. One of their most important tasks was to get rid of American traders who were getting furs illegally from the Indians by giving them bad whiskey and rat-fire rifles. Pierce competition was leading to civil war, and it was necessary for the Mounties to keep order.

The Mounties' objective near Calgary was known as "Fort Whoop-Up" and it was from this haven of bootlegging that the bad whiskey got its name "Whoop-Up bug juice." It was made by mixing whiskey with chewing tobacco, red pepper, Jamaica ginger, molasses, diluted with water, and then heated to make it real "firewater."

The story of the Mounties' march west is an epic that cannot be told here. In fact the story might have ended somewhere between Fort Dufferin and Calgary if the Mounties had not been able to get battle-scarred Jerry Potts to act as their guide when they were lost on the prairies.

Exactly two years from the day that the Mounties left Fort Dufferin, they had to assume responsibility for controlling Sitting Bull and 4,000 Sioux Indians who fled into Canada after annihilating the United States Seventh Cavalry under General Custer. It was a two year task, something like controlling a keg of gunpowder with lighted fuse attached.

OTHER EVENTS ON JULY 8

1755—A British frigate was brought to England. French ships "Alcide" and "Lys" to Halifax although war had not been declared.

1758—Montcalm defeated British at Ticonderoga.

1760—Captain John Byron defeated French fleet in Bay of Chaleur.

1822—Chippewa Indians ceded 580,000 acres new parts of Lampton, Kent and Middlesex counties in Ontario.

1800—Construction began on railway between Calgary and Edmonton.

1896—Conservative government under Sir Charles Tupper resigned, replaced by Liberals under Wilfrid Laurier.

1937—Imperial Airways flying boat "Caledonia" arrived at Montreal. In a grueling trans-Atlantic air service.

Young Family Goes To Sea

SAN FRANCISCO, Calif. (Reuters)—A young American couple and their four-year-old daughter, armed with kitchen matches and a medical encyclopedia, have sailed for a one-year stay on a tiny uninhabited coral reef in the South Pacific.

Last October, Richard Ault, 30, took his wife Lois, 26, and daughter Tracy aboard the Italian freighter Graciele Zeta for the long trip south to Suvarov Island, about 600 miles east of American Samoa.

Sometime late this month, the trio will be moved ashore to spend exactly 365 days on the island, which has 100 coconut trees and a lone grapefruit tree and is three-quarters of a mile long, 100 feet wide.

"We didn't want to know why we had done this," Lois Ault, a pediatric nurse, said before they left.

Among their 400 pounds of supplies were 1,095 matches—three for each day of their stay—a small library and a radio transmitter to send distress signals in the event of a real medical emergency.

St. Pius X Church Scene Of Bosch-Reece Wedding

Baskets of yellow gladioli and white daisies decorated St. Pius X Church, Kelowna, and lilies of the valley tied with aqua ribbons marked the pews for the wedding of Adrienne Jeanette Reece and Albert Charles Bosch on Saturday, June 29.

The bride is the eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Adrian Reece of Lakeview Heights and the groom is the son of Mrs. N. Bosch of Kelowna and the late Nick Bosch.

Rev. Father Martin officiated at the service, and Mrs. K. Harding, the bride's aunt, sang "The Wedding Prayer" and "Ave Maria" accompanied by Mrs. Jean Gibson at the organ. The lovely bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a full-length gown of organza, trimmed with lace appliques over satin-backed crepe. Fashioned on Empire lines, the gown featured semi-bell sleeves and a floor-length train also trimmed with lace appliques. A dainty petal coronet held in place her veil of illusion net sprinkled with seed pearls, and she wore a gold cross which was a gift from the groom. She carried a cascading bouquet of small carnations centred by a yellow orchid.

The maid of honor was the bride's cousin, Marnie Schellenberg of Kelowna, and the junior bridesmaid was the bride's sister Kathleen Reece. Both looked charming in their aqua, Empire line, sleeveless dresses, with matching ribbons in their hair, and each wore their gift from the bride, a gold locket. They carried bouquets of yellow tinted carnations and daisy bouquets. Richard Gatzke, a four year old nephew of the groom was the delightful small ring bearer.

Acting as best man was Larry Ziebert, also a nephew of the groom, from Saskatchewan. The bride's two brothers Gary and Colin Reece were ushers.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Reece chose an ensemble of yellow lace, with which she wore a daisy covered, white picture hat and white accessories. To complete her attractive outfit she wore a daisy corsage. The groom's mother, who assisted her in receiving the guests at the reception held at the Aquatic, wore a pale green dress, trimmed with white lace, and complimented by white accessories, and a corsage of yellow carnations.

Master of ceremonies at the reception was the bride's uncle Kenneth Harding, who also proposed the toast to the bride. This was ably answered by the groom, and the best man proposed the toast to the bridesmaids.

Upon the bride's table flanked by yellow candles, the wedding cake, made by the groom's mother, Mrs. Bosch, was set in a table surrounded by yellow rose buds.

ANN LANDERS

When Woman Takes Pill It Is Surely Her Pill

Dear Ann Landers: The other evening my husband said to me, "Did you take your pill, dear?" I replied, "You mean OUR pill, don't you? After all, the Pill is a family affair." He looked at me as if I had taken leave of my senses.

My husband is typical of the newly liberated male. To my way of thinking the American husband never did accept his share of responsibility in regard to sex and pregnancy. Now that we have The Pill the husband just plain doesn't want to be bothered with anything. The only thing on his mind is did SHE remember to take HER Pill or not?

Several months ago I read an item about a birth control pill for men. So far as I know THAT pill has never been perfected. And you can be sure it won't be since most medical research is done by men and they will shunt the responsibility off on the female as long as possible.

We women are partly to blame because we have let the men get away with it. I remember last year an unmarried career girl wrote and asked if her gentleman friend should share in the cost of The Pill. (She was reluctant to ask him because she "didn't know him well enough to talk about money.")

So please, Ann Landers, will you help me in my crusade to liberate the female by printing this letter? - FRANKLY THY NAME

Dear Frank: When a woman takes a pill it's HER pill, whether it's an aspirin, a vitamin, or what have you - so stop trying to make it a family affair, Lady.

Dear Ann Landers: Our 16-year-old daughter just started to date. Last night she came in at midnight (the agreed curfew) and invited her date to come in to talk.

Her father and I sat up and visited with them until 3:30 a.m. Was this proper? He is such an intelligent lad, we really enjoyed ourselves. Now, however, I wonder if perhaps we should have asked the young man to leave earlier. But how does one do this without being rude? Should he have left on his own? Please tell us what is correct. - TIME FLIES

Dear Time: How nice that your daughter has such interesting friends, but no boy should sit around until 3:30 a.m. You should not have asked him to leave; your daughter should have shown him to the door - at about 12:30.

Have an understanding for future dates. Have by midnight and the boy leaves by 12:30. And may I suggest that you and your husband visit with the interesting young man some Sunday afternoon?

Dear Ann Landers: Your answer to the woman who asked how to remove urine pits in company proved you don't eat out much. You said a person should put the whole prune in his mouth, eat around the pit and then transport the pit by spoon to the plate.

I don't know where you got this crazy idea but it's wrong. My mother taught us to put the prunes in our mouths and, when no one is looking, spit the pits into a napkin and put them on the plate.

One of the things I admire about you, Ann, is that you are big enough to admit it when you are wrong. I hope you will do so this time. - PROVIDENCE

Dear Providence: I hate to take sides against your Mom, but spitting pits into a napkin and sneaking them on to the plate is not my idea of good manners.

Vernon Dumps Kelowna Deep Into OMBL Cellar

Vernon Luckes extended their winning streak to seven games Sunday defeating the Kelowna Labatts 6-1 in an Okanagan Mainline Baseball League game in Vernon.

The victory leaves Vernon 3½ games ahead of second place Kamloops Lelands who kept pace by defeating Penicton in Kamloops Saturday.

Kelowna remains in last place 7½ games from the top in the four team loop.

Gordie Nuyns limited Kelowna to only four hits in going the distance for the victory. He struck out nine and held the Labatts hitless for the final five innings.

Kelowna opened the scoring in the first inning with their only run. Leadoff hitter Gary Lawlor was safe on third base when Cliff Loring's error and he scored on Wayne Leonard's double. Nuyns then got Al Labounty to line into a double play cutting off a possible rally as Jack Burton followed with another base hit.

Nuyns was in little trouble after the first inning and at one point retired 12 men in order.

Vernon bounced back in the second off losing pitcher Lazzarotto, newcomer from Revelstoke, pitching his first game of the year. Luckies picked up a pair of runs in the ninth when Pat Loring walked. Bob Adhead singled and Don McRitchie singled, scoring Loring. Chuck Bell walked to load the bases and Adhead scored on Clark Inglis' sacrifice fly.

Vernon boosted its margin to 3-1 in the fifth on singles by Rick Sugden, Gordie Nuyns and Adhead.

The final three runs of the game scored in the seventh on singles by Inglis and Don Archer, and doubles by Pat Loring and Adhead.

Vernon's nine hits off Lazzarotto and Ray Kappenman, who relieved in the seventh, were bunched into the three innings they scored.

Labatts were again minus several regulars and the makeshift lineup saw much changes as Wayne Leonard playing shortstop, Al Labounty at second base and Jack Burton starting in centre field. Among those absent were outfielders Ron Hareus, shortstop Renny Rantucci and Bob Cox, second baseman Bernie Monteleone and first baseman Gerry Robertson.

Next league action for Kelowna will be Wednesday when the team travels to Penicton to play the third place Molsons. Kelowna 100 000 000 — 14 3 Vernon 020 010 30x — 6 9 3 Lazzarotto, Kappenman (7) and Favell; Nuyns and Inglis. W—Nuyns; L—Lazzarotto.

Babe Ruth Crown Goes To Kelowna

Kelowna will represent the Interior in the Babe Ruth B.C. Finals in Victoria next weekend.

Kelowna rallied behind the no-hit pitching of Mark Lang Sunday to win the Interior baseball championship in Penicton during the weekend. Teams throughout the Interior competed in the double-knockout tournament which opened Wednesday.

Pitching was the name of the game for the locals, a team selected from the Kelowna Babe Ruth League. In the four games they played, Kelowna gave up only two earned runs.

Three pitchers were used with Lang pitching the first and final game. He went the distance in leading Kelowna to an 8-2 win over Vernon in the first game before coming back with his no-hitter over Trail Sunday.

John Clerk pitched the second game, also going the distance. He got plenty of support from his teammates as they ground up 17 runs to defeat Grand Forks 17-2.

Gerry Kielbiski pitched the third game, going the distance as Kelowna defeated Kamloops. In the four games they played, Kelowna used only four pitchers, each one going the full six innings without relief.

Kelowna goes to Victoria Sunday for the B.C. finals but their first game is scheduled for Monday. They play the host team, Saanich, the game, scheduled to begin at 2 p.m.

Seven teams are in the finals, a double-knockout tournament scheduled for next week. Other teams entered are from Vancouver, North Vancouver, the Lower Mainland, Fraser Valley and Vancouver Island.

Coach Hank Tostenson says the team will have an "excellent chance of winning if they play as well as they did in Penicton."

He said the club performed well both defensively and offensively. He singled out the pitching for special acclaim but also mentioned the hitting, which accounted for an average of more than 10 runs a game.

Mr. Tostenson will phone back reports of every game Kelowna plays in the B.C. finals.

Coast Wins Net Titles

Vancouver players walked away with five open-event titles and the junior veterans doubles Saturday as competition in the B.C. Interior Tennis Championships ended at the Kelowna Golf and Country Club courts.

In the Ladies singles, Ardis Savard defeated Pam Hunter 3-6, 6-3 and 6-3. Both were from Vancouver.

In men's singles, Les Sallay defeated Mike McGeough in straight sets, 6-2 and 6-4.

In ladies doubles, Angela McPherson and Pam Hunter brushed aside the only Kelowna threat in the championships by beating Marj McFadden and Joyce Roydell 6-1 and 6-4.

In men's doubles, Ken Dahl and Mike McGeough handled Dick Hunter and Neil McPherson in straight sets, 6-2 and 6-1.

In the closest competition of the day, Ardis Savard and Les Sallay defeated Pam and Dick Hunter 3-6, 7-5 and 8-6 to win the mixed doubles event. Frank Stoltman and Jack Doward won the junior veterans with Claire Irish and Ernie Winter, both of Kelowna, the runners-up.

SAURDAY NIGHT

Detroit Lengthens Lead; Take Pair From Oakland

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Trying to catch the first-place Detroit Tigers is becoming a frustrating experience for some of the other American League teams.

Second-place Cleveland Indians have won eight of their last 11 games, but the Tigers have won nine of 11.

Third-place Baltimore Orioles have won five of their last seven, but Detroit has taken six of seven.

Detroit used the long ball—three home runs, two triples and six doubles—to sweep a doubleheader from Oakland Athletics 5-4 and 7-6 Sunday. Going into the three-day All-Star break, the Tigers lead Cleveland by 9½ games and Baltimore by 10½.

The Indians beat California Angels 8-3 but lost the nightcap 9-7. The Orioles rallied for 3-2 victory over New York Yankees after dropping the first game 3-1. Boston Red Sox swept Minnesota Twins 4-3 and 6-3. In the only single game, Chicago White Sox edged Washington Senators 4-3 in 11 innings.

FRED VALENTINE
... beats Yankees

Saturday, Oakland drew a n e d Detroit 4-1, California blanked Cleveland 2-0, Baltimore defeated New York 5-1, Boston took Minnesota 4-2 and Washington trounced Chicago 8-4.

It may be a little early for such things, but for the mathematically inclined Detroit's magic number for its first pennant since 1945 is 71, with 70 games remaining.

Willie Horton's 21st homer in the ninth inning for Detroit won the opener from Oakland and made Denny McLain—16-2—the winningest pitcher in the major leagues.

The long-balling continued in the nightcap—including Al Kaline's two-run homer—but it took a seventh-inning single by rookie shortstop Tom Matchick to bring home the winning run.

Oakland's Sal Bando belted three homers in the doubleheader and Reggie Jackson two.

DROVE IN FOUR

Duke Sims drove in four runs with a homer and single as Cleveland took its opener from California behind Luis Tiant, who won his 14th.

Don Mincher's two-run homer gave the Angels a 7-1 lead after seven innings of the nightcap but his two-run single in the ninth was the difference as the Indians rallied.

Carl Yastrzemski socked a homer in each game as the Red Sox swept the Twins. Joe Foy slammed a two-run homer in the nightcap.

The Yankees clipped Baltimore in their opener on home runs by Roy White and Andy Kosco, and Mel Stottlemyre's four-hit pitching. But a tie-breaking, ninth-inning homer by Fred Valentine gave the Orioles the nightcap. Elrod Hendricks homered in each game for Baltimore.

Wayne Causey scored the tying run in the eighth inning and singled home the winner in the 11th as the White Sox edged Washington. Mike Epstein's three-inning homer had put the Senators ahead 3-2.

Willows Win Three Games In Senior Softball Action

Willow Inn Willows started the weekend on the wrong foot, but by the time they finished, opposing teams in the Senior B Softball circuit were wishing they wouldn't have started at all.

With three games scheduled, the Willows certainly didn't appear to be in any danger of improving their won-lost record. They trailed the five-team league and weren't showing too many signs of improvement.

But the Willows swept a pair of games from Vernon Saturday, then knocked off the league-leading Royal Anne Royals Sunday.

Wally Sehn pitched the Willows to a 5-4 victory in their first game Saturday. He also contributed a single to go with Dale Armeau's homer as the Willows rallied for three runs in the final inning.

Larry Yeast came back in the second game to hold Vernon to one run, a solo homer by Jack Keough, as they picked up a 4-1 win.

Yeast, Ian Angus and Ron Pyle all delivered singles as the Willows picked up three runs in the fifth inning to take the second half of the doubleheader.

Sehn was back on the mound Sunday and he scattered seven hits as the Willows edged the Royals 2-1. Gib Loseth was the losing pitcher.

Willows scored both their runs in the first inning. Kelowna Carlings host the Willows in the only game scheduled today. Game time is 7:30 p.m. at King's Stadium.

WINS THREE RACES

Kitsch Likes Cool Of The Evening

By RON ALLERTON

Night racing started hot, finished cool, but was not a big success at the gate Saturday at the Billy Foster Memorial Speedway.

The smallest crowd of the season (605 paid) watched 22 drivers in three classes put their cars through 134 laps in 14 events.

Saturday marked the first of four July night racing dates and Okanagan Track Racing Association officials expect the crowd size to improve as racing fans become accustomed to the switch from Sunday afternoon stock car action.

Drew Kitsch again won every race entered with his speedy B modified car, picking up three checkered flags and running his season's win total to 19, best in any class at the quarter-mile, paved speedway.

The only other drivers to visit victory lane more than once were Lyle (The Viking) Hickson and Fred Deuschel, who had a great night with his Blue Angle, each won twice, as 10 drivers shared 14 wins.

FINEST DAY

Deuschel, having by far his finest day of the season, won best in the early-late trials and used his pole position to grab his first win in the five-lap trophy dash. Bob Morcombe and Bruce Halquist finished almost side-by-side, with Morcombe second and Halquist third.

Hickson and Earl Stein put on a great race in the C modified trophy dash, before Hickson came on to win and Stein quit in the last lap with motor problems. Hickson was second and there was no third, with Al Borrett also failing to finish.

Kitsch, fastest in the B modified trials, won his trophy dash for Art Sheeler, who wrecked his car in a high-speed crash three weeks ago. Flying a number 21 flag from his car (Sheeler's number) Kitsch ran away from Ab Funk, second, and Pete Smirl, third. Kitsch presented his trophy to Sheeler, who was visibly impressed with Kitsch's sportsmanship. Sheeler said he would pure the trophy and have it engraved to remember Kitsch's effort.

ROUGH RACE

The early-late first heat was a wild one, with two restarts. Morcombe was flung high in the air off Dave Buis's inside front tire leaving the south turn. Halquist hammered into the west chute, steel fence trying to avoid hitting Joe Sabatino and starter Ralph Foster needed some fancy footwork to avoid the oncoming cars. Morcombe was shaken, but stayed in Sabatino's lost his right front fender and quickly removed the other along with his hood. He had to run early-late in C modified class last week, because he didn't have any fenders, but the rules say if a driver starts with fenders, then loses one, he can continue in his class. Joe, who has hit more hard luck this season than any other driver, now has a car which looks more early than late.

The second re-start, a single-file effort, came after Bismeyer, Morcombe and Gary Hutcheon tangled in the north corner.

When the stockers finally got going, Morcombe took the lead in the third lap from Hutcheon and led the way across the finish line, to become the first driver to win 10 races this year in the early-late class. Halquist came on for second, with Hutcheon hanging in for third.

Art Fiset led, all the way through 10 laps of the C modified first heat, and ran into a long lead, before showing Al Pearson and Frenchy Dumont the way across the finish line.

Kitsch caught and passed Funk in the sixth lap of the 10-lap B modified first heat. Kitsch blew his right rear tire leaving the last corner and slid across the line in a shower of sparks. Funk was second and Smirl did not finish.

Bismeyer was the early leader in the early-late second heat, but Deuschel came on in the third lap and led the rest of the way. Morcombe was second, with Hutcheon third.

VERNON RACE

The C modified fast heat turned into a Vernon race, with Stein, Boesel and Hickson leading the six-car field through the first four laps, Boesel in the middle distance and Stein through the last five. Chasing Stein past the checkered flag were Hickson and Boesel.

Gary Marshall powered into the first lap lead from his pole position in the 10-lap C modified second slow heat, but Borrett came on quickly in the second lap and led the rest of the way. Noll Derriksen, starting last, moved up steadily to finish second, with Marshall stuck in for third.

The three-car B modified second heat was cut to nine laps after Funk dropped out in the third lap with a broken valve. Pete Smirl led from lap one to seven, with Kitsch right behind, but Kitsch moved aside in the second last lap and powered in to victory, with Smirl second.

The 10-lap C modified second fast heat quickly developed into a two section race. Hickson, Stein and Foster ran far ahead of Fiset, Boesel and Pearson. Fiset led through the first three laps. Foster took over from the third to the fifth, then Hickson showed the way through the last five laps to victory lane. Fiset, running third, spun ethe track after he pushed too hard through the last corner. Chasing Hickson across the line were Stein and Boesel.

The lead changed hands again three times in the early-late 15-lap main event. Bismeyer led for three laps, gave way to Hutcheon for four laps, then both watched Halquist set the pace. Halquist finished less than a length ahead of the hard-charging Morcombe, with Hutcheon motoring in third.

The biggest regular race field of the night, 11 cars, left the line in the C modified main event and quickly forced themselves into a re-start.

MINOR SKIRMISH

Nearly half the field was involved in a minor north corner skirmish, with Gary Marshall, the only casualty. When starter Ralph Foster finally got the race running smoothly four drivers had a crack at the frontrunner's position. Larry Flynn led through the first lap, Dumont took over for a single trip around the track, then Borrett took over from the third to the 13th of the 15-lap chase. Ken Foster, one of the speedway's most improved drivers, charged all the way, took over in the third last go-round and picked up his first win of the year. Foster, who has had trouble swinging wide out of the south corner, stayed light inside, to surprise Borrett, who roared in second, with Stein third.

With Funk out for the night, the B modified main was cancelled.

A total of 13 cars, driven by regular drivers, pitmen and sponsors left the line in the sponsors' race. The event, featuring all three classes of cars, was cut to 10 laps from 25 because of darkness. Ray Costa, in Al Borrett's car, grabbed the lead just before the end and took the checkered flag ahead of the Morcombe and Hutcheon cars.

TOURING THE PITS

Saturday night racing appears to have a chance of succeeding, if the crowd size improves a bit. Time trials ran long the first time out and racing started 25 minutes late, but even with the delay OTRA members still managed to run 14 races before darkness hit at 9:30 p.m. and forced the sponsors' race to be cut to 10 laps from 25.

The track was hot and slippery through the trials and early races, but cooled enough later to allow C modified drivers to turn times near 20 seconds flat.

Art Sheeler, who thrilled and frightened racing fans with a 75 mph south corner accident June 16, hopes to be back into action in three weeks. He salvaged the power train from his old number 21 and will run a lighter and more competitive car when he returns to action. Sheeler drove Frenchy Dumont's car in the sponsors' race and said later his crash apparently wasn't affected by "cool."

John Sharples, a popular campaigner at the Kel-Win Speedway two years ago is back in Kelowna from Prince George and was an interested spectator Saturday. When asked if he was retired for good he didn't answer, but his wife shook her head, indicating Little John may eventually hit the track again. He was one of the most sportsmanlike drivers at Kel-Win and his return would be welcomed by drivers and fans.

Of the 36 drivers who have competed at the track this season, more than half, 19, have managed to win at least one race. Drivers running well in their classes, with five wins or more, include: Art Fiset, Gary Hutcheon, Drew Kitsch, Lyle Hickson, Earl Stein, Bob Morcombe, Joe Sabatino, Joe Harvey and Al Borrett.

Racing continues Saturday night, with time trials at 6 p.m. and racing at 7 p.m. Drivers are urged to have their cars in the pits as early as possible, so racing can begin promptly at 7 p.m.

Mothers Have Nifty Way In Montreal's Lottery

MONTREAL (CP) — The hand that rocks the cradle has a nifty way with Montreal's purse strings, as the results of the city's two "voluntary tax" draws show.

Mrs. Paul E. Lamy of Montreal Sunday became the second winner of the $100,000 top prize in the monthly scheme designed to offset a possible $28,000,000 Montreal budget deficit.

The month before, Mrs. Venita Barrette, also of Montreal,

Strikes, Threats Of Strike Continue To Plague Canada

By JANE BECKER
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Strikes and threats of strikes cast a cloud over the Canadian summer last week.

Despite a fresh-looking new government, no one appeared to know how to clear the air of recurring labor-management disputes.

About 5,700 workers in Massey-Ferguson's farm implement plants in Toronto and Brantford went back to work after a 10-week strike. They had won wage increases of 25 to 50 cents an hour—about twice the original offer made by the company. But they were still about eight cents an hour short of their objective—wage parity with their U.S. counterparts.

A rail strike was headed off. But the possibility of a postal workers' walkout later this month still loomed.

At the Lakehead about 1,300 grain elevator operators were considering whether to strike for a $1.25 increase of the $2.30 an hour they now make.

IMPASSE IN B.C., ONT.

In British Columbia the forest industries and the International Woodworkers of America were struggling to close a gap of 16 cents an hour—the difference between what the union wants in wage increases and what the companies say they will pay.

But the most serious impasse in the economy was created by the strike of 1,200 St. Lawrence Seaway Workers—the first protracted closure of the inland waterway in its nine-year history.

By the end of last week the Seaway had been stalled for a fortnight. Port officials said even if the strike were settled quickly it would take days to clear the backlog of shipping a widowed mother of 10 children, claimed the grand prize in the first monthly draw.

Mrs. Lamy, white-haired mother of five, took a cheerful look at two cart loads of silver ingots—weighing a total 3,000 pounds—and gave Mayor Jean Drapeau a kiss as an audience of 400 roared approval.

She was one of 151 finalists from among more than 600,000 persons who won a total of $150,000 in the second monthly draw. Thirty won $1,000 each, 20 won $500 each and 100 gained 100 each.

The win climaxed three hours of tension for Mrs. Lamy.

As the first 100 names were called—the $100 winners, the $500 winners, and the thirty $1,000 winners—Mrs. Lamy waited.

Then there was no one else to call but her.

ANSWERS QUESTIONS

She answered, as the contest required, four of seven questions, as did all the other winners, and the money was hers.

Mrs. Lamy said she would buy a house with part of the winnings and invest the rest.

The questions asked of the finalists are based on facts about Montreal printed on the back of each $2 receipt mailed to contributors.

One of the happiest winners was J. A. Walsh of Kamloops, B.C., who told reporters his asthmatic wife was taken to hospital at the weekend—"I think the excitement of getting a winning ticket affected her a bit"—and that the money would be used to help his 19-month-old granddaughter who is suffering from a serious heart condition.

Other out-of-Quebec winners, receiving $500 or more, were: $1,000—Gordon Barrett, Sullivan Bay, B.C.; Mrs. Grace I. Worrell, Coldwater, Ont.; Earle Klohn, Vancouver; J. W. White, Amherst; Mrs. L. Leblanc, Val-des-Bois, B.C.; John Tilley, Powell River, B.C.; Gordon L. Simpson, Hastings, Ont.; Mrs. Dorothy Weaver, Chippewa, Ont.

$500—R. W. Williams, Willowdale, Ont.; Stanley Knight, East Selkirk, Man.; Mrs. Barbara Lockhart, Mississauga, Ont.

One $1,000-winner, Frank Nadworny of Regina, was absent from the final drawing Sunday, and under the plan's rules he must answer his allotted questions at some other time before he can receive his money.

waiting on the Great Lakes and the St. Lawrence River.

By week's end about 75 per cent of Canada's 5,000 inland seamen and 2,400 stevedores at major inland ports were without work.

The strike was costing Canadians more than $4,000,000 weekly in lost wages and business. Canadian shipping companies estimated their daily loss at $500,000 in cargoes and ship maintenance charges as most of the 200-vessel Canadian lakes fleet dropped anchor.

MAY NEVER RETURN

But the greatest fear was that much of the business lost might never be recovered, as shippers turn to alternative ways of getting goods to markets.

The three-per-cent wage spread between the Seaway workers' demands and the Seaway Authority's offer amounted to an estimated $360,000 over two years.

The Authority lost almost four times that much in toll revenues alone during the first two weeks of the strike.

There was better news from the oil front. An industry survey published last week showed Canadian consumption of petroleum products continuing to climb, making Canadians the largest per capital users of oil of any nation in the free world last year.

Consumption was about 800 gallons a person, a total of nearly 1,300,000 barrels daily.

Production has more than kept pace, multiplying more than 50-fold since 1946, while domestic demand has increased six-fold.

Reserves during 1967 increased by nearly 500,000,000 barrels, to a total of 9,548,000,000 barrels by year-end.

HE'S A TOP PILOT

But Where's His Licence?

WASHINGTON (AP) — A man who worked his way up to a top pilot's job with a major airline before it was discovered he held only a private licence has been barred from flying anything permanently.

The national transportation safety board said Friday it has upheld earlier rulings in the case of Jimmie H. Lane, 35, and has closed the book on him.

The Federal Aviation Administration discovered early last March that Lane, then of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., had been flying as a pilot for Eastern Air Lines since 1957 although he held only a private pilot's licence. That licence authorized him to fly only single-engine planes, and did not qualify him to carry passengers.

The FAA said Lane altered the certificate to make it resemble the card of an air transport pilot.

MADE $20,000 ANNUALLY

After attending Eastern's pilot training school, Lane advanced progressively during 11½ years into the $20,000-a-year salary class.

He flew the busy New York-Washington shuttle service regularly, and had a perfect safety record.

He was unmasked by an FAA inspector checking his competence to become a DC-9 jet captain.

Eastern fired him, and last March 4 the FAA ordered emergency revocation of his only flight document, his private pilot's certificate.

Lane appealed to the national transportation safety

Loch Ness Opens Monster Season

INVERMORISTON, Scotland (Reuters) — The Loch Ness monster season got under way here today when a man reported seeing the famed tourist attraction swimming around for about four minutes.

"I thought at first it was a huge rock," said John MacKay, 23. "But then it began moving in semi-circles and throwing up a terrific spray."

MacKay said he saw the monster from a spot near here where the road rises to 100 feet above the loch surface.

He estimated it was 16 feet long and eight feet high. It was jet black, and what appeared to be its head looked something like the head of an enormous sheep, he said.
